

Print Balances Updated

2017-09-05 - Adam Smeets - 0 Comments - in Borra Center for Teaching & Learning Excellence

Information Technology initially loaded print funds to student accounts prior to the start of the Fall 2017 semester. After the first week of classes, we have re-run course counts to determine if students did not receive enough printing funds because courses were added after we ran our first report. Also, if courses were dropped after the first report run, we have removed credits from accounts that were overfunded.

As a reminder, students receive $3 in technology printing funds per credit hour enrolled. This provides 129 single-sided pages of Technology Fee-supported printing per 3 credit hour course. While personal credits roll over each semester, technology printing funds will not carry over from Fall to the Spring semester. Faculty have been asked to consider printing volumes in courses and electronic distribution through Canvas for course materials.